

A technical diagram of a circular structure, possibly a cross-section of a pipe or a ring. The structure is defined by a blue outline. The outer boundary is a thick ring filled with a hatched pattern of small, parallel lines. The inner boundary is a smooth curve. The space between the inner and outer boundaries is empty. In the center of the structure, the word "blue" is written in a bold, lowercase, sans-serif font. Below "blue", the text "by OLGIN DUCASSE" is written in a smaller, uppercase, sans-serif font. Several blue lines extend from the outer boundary of the structure towards the edges of the image, suggesting connections or measurements. The entire diagram is set against a white background.
